

INTERACTIVE ELECTRONIC VOTING BY REMOTE BROADCASTING

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

[0100] An interactive voting application is broadcast to a broadcast receiver. The broadcast receiver executes the voting application, allowing a voter to cast one or more votes on an electronic ballot, and then transmits the votes to a server. In a preferred embodiment, the server stores the votes so that the voters cannot be associated with their votes.